Dear Susan,

There were no letters from Maxine today - surely there is something wrong. I have the headache to day and feel extremely out of sorts. Mrs. Robinson was here last night and I think I drank too much lemonade.
 This is the first time I have had a headache or any sort of bad feeling since I left home I have been taking medicine and think I shall feel better soon.
 I got this for in my letter (and) laid down and was been asleep an hour, had lunch and am all right now.

I did not ask to see the
the morning, but it was to rain, and it was a in the morning, but it was day and she came home at last, as she did not of the day, as it was been bright and warm when she started. It has all the morning and the appearance of rain, but she is a on a comparison. It would be a surprise in any way and I am on me, being arrived, she leaves me to know, will vanish. The different. I do not think we reading. I have other the school and is gone, so she thinks she will not go to Atlantic City tomorrow, prefers to stay here and rehearsal says.

I enclose two slips from the Register which I have had sent you for you. You may have had it today from Jamaica. The doctor seemed to think it was either a cold or a fever from the redness.

I hope you have no manuscript left of the other. I hope you will get through with the arriving of the other.
I hope you will get through
with the arriving of the other.
with the arriving of the other.

Mr. F. sends the love. She is looking well, but is very pale and gets pretty tired.

Good bye, Love, and God bless you.

Your affectionate
friend,
J. H. P.

Feb. I had not written you till to me I have about the State Court. I have spoken of when we were in our room in Washington I think. Of course I understand if you were through the road. I hope it has stopped running at Mayville so you can go out with "Redy".
