Dear Sir:

Being in need of short stories for my new juvenile magazine, Santa Claus, I write to ask whether you can furnish me one such, if so, how soon, and at what rate. The story should be about 2000 or 2500 words in length, and suited to the understanding and sympathies of boys or girls or both of twelve or thirteen.

Hoping to hear from you soon and favorably, I am

Very Truly Yours,

Santa Claus.
