

Standard American Works.

FORDS, HOWARD, & HULBERT,

William Cullen Bryant,
Harriet Beecher Stowe,
Judge Albion W. Tourgee,
Henry Ward Beecher,
Prof. Jacob Harris Patton,
Dr. John Lord,
Edwin Forbes.

No. 30 LAFAYETTE PLACE.

New York, Oct. 2'. 189⁰

Dear Mrs. Tourgee: -

I have received the galley with Greek in it and return it herewith. I found, upon looking over the matter, that the Judge had stated it was by Luke, and that, and a concordance enabled me to find the passage in Acts, and I got a Greek testament and straightened the thing out. So I do not need this. I will, however, send you proof of the correct page when it comes, in order that you may be sure it is right.

Your package containing chapters 15 and 16 was duly received. Where the Judge makes the title of the newspaper chapter "The Eyes of Cerberus," does he not mean the eyes of Argus? Cerberus was not noted for eyes, but he was the three-headed snarleyow that guards the gates of Hades, and required sops for his mouth rather than for his eyes. I have made it "The Eyes of Argus" and should that not be right it can be corrected.

Faithfully Yours,

John R. Howard.

P.

CHAUTAUQUA COUNTY NY HISTORICAL SOCIETY 2013