Hon. Albion W. Towner,
Mayville, N. Y.

Dear Sir;

Kind stamp, and write, please, saying whether your "Letters to Etling" ~~are~~ printed in the New York Examiner are yet in book form. If so can the book be had?

Yours truly

Are YOU a Success?

The successful student, teacher, editor, physician, or clergymen, need not be told that there is necessity for his keeping a Reference Index.

Many have no practical system of memoranda, and, therefore, have no method of keeping the results of their reading at their finger's end.

By older methods much repetition and writing out of sources of information is necessary as more than one subject or phase of a subject is treated in each book, magazine, newspaper, record, etc.

Any system of reference that requires its user to own and have in his library in a special order of arrangement all the literature to which he would refer, does not meet the demand of the age.

Every young person in school or college should keep at least a Pocket Reference Index, if for no other purpose than assistance in reviews, examinations, and graduation.

Students only need enter in the Index Catalogue as many as each volume of the Cyclopedias they consult, any other books or papers or records of reference, and their daily text books, to have a brief and complete system of classifying all subjects of their thoughts, and all information thereon, under one alphabet and at hand.

Taylor's Pocket Reference Index.

(Copyright, 1889.)

BY CLARENCE W. TAYLOR.

6¾x3¾, Cloth, $1.25.

This Index is intended to supply to the student or professional man a convenient, easily kept, systematic and inexpensive Pocket Reference to all printed or written literature, whether possessed by him or not, without waste of time and labor incident to older systems.

It has a capacity for 3,792 subjects, 18,960 references to sources of information, and 1,550 authorities.

With one-fifth as much writing, more complete reference can be made than by any reference index extant.

Taylor's Index Catalogue.

(Copyright, 1889.)

Size, 8½x11, Check Binding. Capacity, 1,500 Books. Price, 50cts.

This Index Catalogue is for entering the title of all sources of printed or written information, briefly and definitely, avoiding much repetition usual in noting authorities in a Reference Index, with a new and complete system for making quick reference to any portion of the literature, or information, in any of the works in the catalogue.

Adapted to be used as a part of Taylor's Reference Index, and, also, in connection with ANY older Reference Index, to secure A GREAT ECONOMY IN TIME AND LABOR.

Taylor's Reference Tablet.

(Copyright, 1889.)

Several sizes and styles. Size, 4½x7¼, 50 sheets, 15cts.

This Tablet is for noting quickly subjects and references, as one reads, avoiding the necessity for laying down a book when reading, to get a large Reference Index and then and there taking time to write the proper reference notation. By the use of this Tablet authorities and references may be collected in a systematic manner for use in writing articles, court work, college work, etc., and for accumulating references, to be entered at leisure, or by an assistant, in a Reference Index.

Attorneys and other professional men, may, if desired, file these tablet slips, when authorities are noted thereon, with the papers in the case, or in an ordinary letter file under the first letter of the subject, or title of the case, instead of keeping a Reference Index.
