Chicago, March 23rd--1892.

Hon. Judge Tourgee,
Mayville,
New York.

Dear Sir:

Having read in the Inter Ocean that you would be in Chicago the last of March, 1892, I address you, asking the privilege of an interview in reference to a plan for the elevation of Colored Women and Children. I merely wish to submit the outline to you for your criticism.

I understand your sentiments fully--and have been inspired in my present undertaking by much I have read of your writings. I inclose my address--kindly inform me if you can give me an audience, and what time--either at my house or at your hotel.

Sincerely Yours,

Mrs. A. Stoddard Nichols,

(dictated)

#280 Jackson Boulevard,

Chicago.
