The Book of Mormon was written in French, (then New Salem) by a Congregational Minister named Phelps as a literary skit. It was sent to a publishing firm in Philadelphia for which Rigden worked. This was the foundation of the fraudulent work there afterwards converted by LE LIVRE DE MORMON.

Smith and Rigden made the basis of Mormonism. I have had conversation with more than one who had heard the manuscript read, all even firmly its substantial identity with the Book of Mormon.
