

Washington, D. C.,
May 17th 1892.

Judge Tenney,

Dear Sir,

I have been waiting to this day, when I would have the pleasure of visiting some of your lectures.
I have read one of your books with a great deal of interest.

As I have, as yet, for a long while, had no knowledge of your address,

There is a matter of information which I seek, and in a postscript having been presented myself, I would ask that you be kind enough to send me your address.

If it ever fails to my lot to shake your hand, which I with esteem and honor, I want you to know that you are held in the highest appreciation by one whose race you have so nobly championed and I wish you "God Speed" and much success in your noble undertakings.

I am

Yours Respectfully
Louise H. Smith
