Baraboo Wis.
May 24th 1892.

Judge A. W. Tourgee,
Maysville, N. C.

Dear Sir;

I am authorized
by the Woman's Relief Corps of this city
to ask if you will stop at this place
on your way to the convention at Minneapolis, or returning from there,
and give a lecture.

We know you have many such calls,
but as Baraboo is on the direct line between Chicago and Minneapolis, it will delay you but a few hours, and we know you are in sympathy with our work.

The members of the Woman's Relief Corps
are raising funds for a soldiers' Monument,
or a Memorial Hall, and it is for that object we wish you to speak here.

Our city has about six thousand inhabitants
with an Opera House that will seat one thousand.

Please let us know at once if you will come, and on what terms.

Yours Respectfully,

Mrs. H. C. Noyes.
