L. L. LEWIS, JR.

Dictated.

Feb. 4, 1893.

My dear Mrs. Tourgee:-

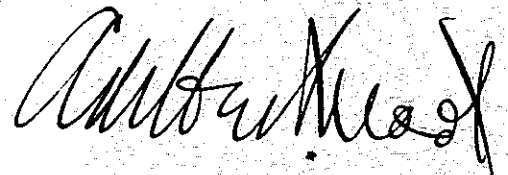

I enclose a letter from Barlow, in answer to a letter from me.

I think the examination had better be at Mayville, even though the expense of Barlow and the Referee coming to Mayville is borne by you, as it is as cheap to pay their way to Mayville as to pay your own way to Jamestown. Furthermore, you will save the expense of a long-drawn examination, as they will be anxious to return.

I have given my word that the judgment he mentions will be paid by March 1st, 1893. I have asked Barlow to fix a day for the examination, and when I learn the day fixed, I will communicate with you at once.

Trusting the Judge and yourself are well, I remain,

Sincerely your friend,

To

Mrs. Emma K. Tourgee,

Mayville, N. Y.
