Dear Madam:

Mr. Logan is now in Denver, and will remain away probably several days more.

We have received your letter to him of the 13th, but I did not acknowledge it before as I expected him back sooner.

Perhaps if when he returns he communicates with Mr.
Blair he can find out whether the paper you refer to was really returned to you or not; in any event you are entirely protected so far as he is concerned.

The paper was not one requiring a witness, and as it was actually signed and delivered the transaction was fully completed. And since you have a copy of it we have proof of what it was. However, it will of course be better to have the original.

Truly yours,

Salter S. Clark
