Dear Sir -

Pardon me for trespassing on your time, but I wish to settle a question that came up recently in discussing your book "A. F. S. & Emanuel" -

I recall the book soon after it came out, and was told that it was a history of your own life, which in the South

I had "Verdant" was "Green Day", and the Judge Denton was the late Judge J. Little of the District Court - that the case bit of perjury in the entire book was the chapter relating to the Clayton's pill to the bridge, to name one factor of approaching danger I would like so much to know if this is correct You will appreciate the deep interest I had in this book and also
"Pricks without Stems"

When I tell you that my late husband was vice president in the Union Army, that we settled him down after the War - Col. Hunt was was leader of the Republican Party for many years, for six years was state Senator from this County -

Was informant of the story of "For's Error" - and Judge Little himself I want to hear from you soon - Respectfully
Mrs Geo E. Huntmark
