

United States Senate,

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 24, 1893

My dear Judge

How are you? well I hope.

Did you see the Illustrated Review of Jan'y 7th on Blaine?

By the way what do you think of the situation?

Harrison did one good thing, in helping you about your pension, but somebody must have opposed it, or he would not have done it, His Administration came in in a rain storm, and went out in a snow storm — and immediately the storm ceased, His political sun has set, but it did not go down in a blaze of glory, quite the reverse. Intentionally he was indeed a great man, but he had not a shiver full of practical political party common sense. His first two years was marked by the defeat of nearly 1/2 a dozen Republican Candidates for Governor and the election of Democrats in the place of Republicans, and called down upon the party that honored and elected him to an inglorious defeat, and yet I am told that he is silly enough to believe that he is the logical Candidate of the republican party for '96,

With kindest regards to Mrs. T.
I beg you believe me, as ever

Yours sincerely
Wm. Adams French
