THE GRAND PACIFIC HOTEL.

DRAKE, PARKER & Co., PROPRIETORS.

Chicago, April 11 1893.

My dear wife:

I did too much yesterday and the day before and am a little dilapidated looking.

Wixson is sick. I have not seen him but have just written to Burbey to loan the balance on the thing paid anyhow. He will probably arrange for that at least - perhaps will be down to see me. Dined at Dr. Hervey's last night - pleasant time.

Lab awfully mixed on the train. You had better have Clyde come to station tomorrow night as I shall try to make it on that train (11 oc. Wed. night) if shall probably fail and have to stay over in Dunkirk; but may make it.

Yours
Albin
