Marchfield, settle

14 July 1893.

Dear Mrs Taugée

This letter is to tell you of a little incident in connection with "Murrell Eastman" which I think will interest you. I lent the book to a friend, asking her to pass it on to a young minister, Mr.
Hartman of Lyndhurst Road Church, Hampstead, the young man who has lectured at Yale this spring brought it before a conference of thirty earnest I hear to-day that "he has read it with intense interest ministers yesterday at as it is written on lines stamped on them in which his own heart greatly interested, we shall & head are working he see how the seed ripens". has been especially It seems remarkable that glad of it... the presentation at such a distance your of relations for social & husband's work should be religious difficulties is sowing seed & it is strange remarkable. Owing to as how closely he has your having introduced photographed this young Mr. Stanton to this, he minister in his M. East

Forgive me for troubling you but I thought you would be interested.

Believe me, with kindest greetings

Sincerely yours
Caroline Shepherd.
