

16 DIVISION STREET
BANGOR, MAINE.

Dear Mrs. Tourgee-

Please excuse a hurried note written in the midst of my work.

I have a friend whose birthday comes along the first of November to whom I want to give the Judge's last book, but it would add so much to its value in her eyes if he and Lodie would write their names that I venture to ask you how I can get a copy and get their names in it. I know if possible you will help me out.

I have not heard anything from you this summer now Mrs. Warner has left I do not hear of you. She told me of the death of your mother which must have left a large vacant place in Froheim.

I went to Chicago and took a prominent part in one of the first accidents and was laid up in Toronto where I often thought of Grimsby and the delightful people there.

I was in bed about two months but am about well now. Rode twenty miles on my bicycle Sunday with ease and pleasure.
If I could get rid of my old scourge malaria I'd be a well woman in spite of my flying through a car window.

If you will help me in the quickest way to this book I'd be more than obliged to you. I can pay for every thing out the catalogue which are only to be begged I know.

October
Twenty-fourth.
Sincerely
Hattie May Burr
