

NEW YORK, May 21st 1894

Hon. A. W. Touze
Paris:

About ten years ago you desired to procure a dog and were willing to pay $50. I bought one for $60 and sold it to you for $50, thus paying $10 for the pleasure to provide you with a fine animal. You paid me $30, and I am still waiting for the balance of $20.

I know I have no legal claim whatever but I think this is not a matter of law. I cannot doubt that you can spare the money which I need badly and I trust you will let me have it.

Yours very truly
