

82 Oxford Place,
Buffalo, N.Y.
Aug. 6, 1894.

My Dear Judge:

When I saw you the other day you thought you would decide the question of starting the National Citizen on the first day of this month. I am anxious to know what the decision was. If it was favorable ^{to the enterprise} I think I shall see you some day this week, and try to arrive at some definite understanding with you in regard to my taking a hand or not doing so.

I feel very thankful the kindness and the honor you have done me by offering me a place with you, in the event of your undertaking the publication of the Citizen, and I shall not hesitate to accept if I can do so with proper regard for the interests of the wife and the little one.

I trust you are all well,
that is that the sick, including Dora, have recovered.

Mrs. Peirce gains but very slowly. The doctor thinks it will be two months yet before she regains her usual health.

Please let me know about your decision.

With kind regards to all
Yours very truly,
W. M. Peirce