W. G. M'KEAN, Correspondent,
and Special Writer.

Erie, Pa. May 13, 1895

A. V. Fourgee, Esq.

Dear Sir. Enclosed is an article that I have written on the lines suggested by some research and study and I think it will suggest to the sudent of economics a growing menace to the present industrial system. If you consider it worth space in the columns of "The Basis," use it on whatever terms you see fit. I am chiefly interested on the humane side, and although I prepared it for the "Inland Printer," I was so impressed with it that I thought it ought to have a wider and more general reading. I am to you stranger, although through your writings you have ceased to be a stranger to me. I was formerly editor of the Erie Dispatch

(over)

CHAUTAUQUA COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY 2019

gette, and can refer you to Hon. Benj. Whitman, or to Mr. Bolles, present editor of the Dispatch, as to my standing in the community.

Respectfully

W. W. Kean,

128 East Seventh st.

1 year

pj mm