WINONA,
SOUTHAMPTON, LONG ISLAND.

My dear Miss Tourjée,

All along I have been wondering why the copy of "Race with your translation of Mérimée's Serious ode did not arrive, and today in looking over the periodicals which had arrived during my absence at Hanover N. H. I found the very copy.

That will explain why
I have not acknowledged its receipt
before.
It must have been very difficult to render into English
verse with its terrain
terminations in 'ar'
and 'ich'. But it reads very well, and now at last I know
what Hilprecht did,
for I never could take Humble to
