Fords, Howard, & Hulbert,

Publishers, No. 47 East Tenth St.,

New York, Feb 14 1896

Dear Mr Jorge

Veni, "One story is good till another is told"! Well, I don't see that we can do any more now. I should like to know what Davis says: but probably we'd better let it alone, now. If I ever meet Mr D. I shall surely ask him.

In query about the annual & semi-annual settlements. I asked Mr Bell. He got out the old contract & showed me that that provided for annual accountings for the profits; but it was agreed that if for his convenience the Texas desired money, we would "advance" him money, at the rate of 10% as a credit upon sales, not of less than 3000

CHAUTAUQUA COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY 2013

Fords, Howard, & Hulbert,

Publishers, No. 47 East Tenth St.

New York, Feb 14 1896

Dear Mr Jones

Well, "One story is good till another is told"! Well, I don't see that we can do any more now. Just for fun, I'd like to know what Darei is paying: but probably it's better left alone, now. If I ever meet Mr D. I shall surely ask him.

In query about the Annual & semi-annual settlements. I asked Mr Bell. He got out the old contract & showed me that that provided for annual accounting for the ½ profits: but it was agreed that if for his convenience the Texas desired money, we would "advance" him money, at the rate of 10% on what price of sales, not of less than 3000 without reference to the regular p profit accounting.

When Dr B. took the ofc he asked about the contract & we told him; he was satisfied to let it rest on the regular annual accounting.

As to the difference in interest, Mr Bell has made a rough calculation of how much that would be had we made half yearly instead of yearly settlements; and, on the basis of pay half the amts. of yearly amts., the difference in all the 13 years would not amount to $65.
And when you remember that the bulk of the sales are always in the last half of the year (wh. is practically near no interest) the difference becomes microscopic. So you need not let that trouble you as a possible leakage which might have been saved. You have enough to worry about in fact: this really is not a factor!

Faithfully Yours, J. R. Howard