My dear Mrs Saunders,

We are grieved indeed to hear this sad announcement & we sympathize with you with all our hearts. We understand only too well what you are going through, and we can feel for you very deeply. It means a good deal for you to write and tell us all to complete the family, but not at present, your time & thoughts must be very full and your strength must often be nearly at an end. How I wish we were near so that we might give you all the help in our power, I hope that you have many kind friends around you, you need them in a foreign land but are experienced of the French in time of about your great trouble and we appreciate your kindness more than I can say. Had I known all this I should never have mentioned the subject of a cuddy rake but the photograph will be a great treasure and sometime you must be good enough trouble has been a very bright one, we always remember their gradness to us with deep gratitude and I hope it is so with you. I shall make all inquiry about Catherine Impey and you shall hear the result. My impression is that some little cloud came over her, certainly during the S. A. war she was silent & it is long since I have heard of her. The Impey family is an mountain one, some time since her brother was severely defeated in an election campaign, so badly that it was a disappointment. Is there anything that we can send to you invalid in the way of books, if there is anything you can think of, it will be a pleasure to send it.

to be able to read or to

We shall always be grateful of a few lines.
My husband wishes to join me in most friendly greetings. I

My dear Miss Tourgée;

In this morning's "Express" I was most sorry to see the notice of your father's death.

Please accept my sincere sympathy in your bereavement.

Some time ago, I heard that he was ill, but did not know that his illness was of a serious nature - I know that he was more to you than most fathers are to their daughters. My heart goes out to you but can not say the words of comfort that I would like -

Sincerely yours,

Janette C. Beach
