

9861

George S. Hulbert, Publisher, New York
Seventy Eight Fifth Avenue

December 4th, 1905.

Mrs. A. W. Tourgee,
Mayville, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Tourgee:-

I learn from Mr. Howard that you are tarrying at Mayville and have succumbed to the rigorous climate of the lake country. This is too bad and I am very sorry that you are having so many things to depress you in mind and body.

Regarding the memorandum sent from Headley Bros., London, I should think a fair price for the Judge's books in sheets would be 30 cents a volume by the thousand and 50 cents by the hundred; but I do not see how you can furnish lots of 100 except for "Fool's Errand" and "Bricks", of which we may have in sheets 200 each at the bindery. Have you anything concerning the standing of these London publishers so as to be sure of your money? You would certainly want that if you thought of shipping the plates over there for printing, and ought to have it in any case.

I have presumed that you would go to Washington and stop here en route and that I might see you again after resting from your late voyage.

I read accounts of the memorial services in the Buffalo Express and one other paper and conclude that the attendance was very large and I hope very satisfactory to the Judge's friends. Distance and the lack of robust health prevented me from being present except in spirit.

With best wishes, I am

Yours very truly,

Geo. B. B. House

Geo. S. Hulbert

Hat Plowshares
A Royal Gentlemen
Zips & Shells
Bricks
A Fools Errand
Black Ice
Out of Sunset Sea
An Outing with Queens of Hearts
The Man Who Outlined Himself
John Eax
Murrelle Eastman

Stored at Bridge Vault
of Drummond 444 Pearl St

Dec 7/05

N.Y. City