My dear Mrs. Tourgee:-

I am sorry to learn from your card of the 7th, received this morning, that your daughter has been ill. Your card was evidently written before you received my letter containing a copy of my letter to the Corresponding Secretary of the Mutual Life.

I regret very much that I leave tomorrow afternoon for Boston, to join Mrs. Moot and my son who is in Harvard, for a Sunday, so that I will not be able to see you and your daughter, or have you at our house.

I think we will hear something drop from the Mutual in the near future, and that my letter will save you some money. You have waited so long, I think you can wait a little longer, because you are entitled to interest while you wait, and, if necessary, we can force them to pay it by bringing an action, without putting you to any considerable expense. The interest we will get will more than pay the expense. I do not want to get you into a litigation, or into expense, but I feel indignant at the way they try to impose upon you.

In the hope that your daughter will soon be herself again, I am,

Sincerely your friend,

To

Mrs. Albion W. Tourgee,
Mayville, N. Y.
