9879

Street
Somerset
March 13. 1905

Dear Mrs Fourgée

In reply to your question as to Headley Brothers I should suppose their financial standing to be quite satisfactory.

Their business premises are the property of Friends being at the entrance to the Central Meeting House of the Society in London where all our Yearly Meetings and other gatherings of the whole Society are held.

They have rented this

Shop for many years and never have a ~~Shop~~ Grocery store there. —

~~They publish the~~

"~~Readers Digest~~"

My wife's sister some years ago brought out a little book a building Collection of favourite extracts of her fathers Headleys published this and she is now arranging with them to bring out another edition of the same.

I have never heard anything against them in any way. —

We usually get our Supplies of Books from them for private use & for our public library. —

We have always found them Straightforward & deal with

It is pleasant to hear from you and you need not in the least apologize for writing

If I can be any help to you in this or any other matter it is only a pleasure. —

We are all well Expecting our daughter back from South africa in about a fortnight —

My wife join with me in every good wish for Xmas & the New Year

I remain

Yours very truly

William L. Clark