My Dear Mrs Fourpre:

Your several letters came to hand all right, I will comply with your various requests. The butter is 28¢ per pound Morris says you paid him $2.80 for the 10 lbs. I ordered it last spring and it will be on the road Friday.

We have had summer weather for the last few days, and more of the usual storm, mudslight for which we are very grateful.

The apple tree brush can hardly be ready to burn very well yet, being too green. Mr. G- will complete the job as soon as the brush will burn. The Mantel has not come yet Mr. Clark and I will look it over carefully before accepting it.

Tell the daughter the name of the tobacco is "perique" just as she thought.

I have just come from the house and Mr Clark is getting along very rapidly. Joe has the buildings all torn down, and as he thinks, in regard to having the main barn, so I think. It will save building two smaller buildings, and as the partitions are arranged, there will be enough room for each animal fully as satisfactorily as with separate buildings; there would have to be new shingling and siding, then you would have a place for a horse and sleigh, should any of your friends desire to stay the night. Mr. Clark says the repairs on the barn would not exceed the expense of building new buildings. I think with the doors way & hedge arranged as they are, the barn would be very much to be preferred. Therefore I told Joe to hold on until after hearing from you in regard to it. I think it would be well to take out those two trees on the N. Y. & Pittsburgh side of the drive way, when the apple trees would do very much better, as they are both are being ruined.

Mrs. Belknap has gone to Fredonia to stay to see her old Uncle, the one who was injured in the Bank failure; his house keeper died very suddenly, in fact he found her dead in her room one Morning, which, of course, was a great shock to him.

Please accept my regards to the daughter.

I am very cheerfully
your friend
