Dear Mrs. Tourgée

It was a great disappointment not to find you and Mrs. Warner at home last Sunday afternoon, and it is a greater disappointment not to be able to accept the kind invitation to dinner on the twenty-fifth.

On that day I shall be at the Library of Congress all afternoon and evening. You know part of the building is always open on Sunday, so that a Sunday force of assistants has to be provided. At present I am going every other week.

Please explain to Mrs. Warner and say I am anxious to see her in her new home which is in a neighborhood quite new to me.

Mrs. Clemens is at 324 B st s.e., and has been suffering from a severe sore throat lately.

Very truly yours
Irene Gibson
